WOODBURY COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

FROM THE CHAIR

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE WOODBURY.

It's more than a theme from this year's fundraiser. It's a reflection of what makes our community special: people who care, neighbors who show up, and a shared commitment to making Woodbury an even better place to call home.

This year, we focused not only on the impact we make in our community, but also on strengthening the Foundation behind that work.

We proudly achieved the Charities Review Council's Meets Standards® designation, recognizing our commitment to accountability, transparency, and responsible stewardship. Behind this achievement were countless volunteer hours dedicated to strengthening our governance, updating policies, and ensuring WCF operates to the highest standards. Much of this work happens behind the scenes, but it builds the trust and foundation necessary for lasting community impact.

We also took meaningful steps toward the future, establishing three Field of Interest Funds focused on Arts & Culture, Health & Human Services, and the Environment. With work underway to launch the Environment Fund first, we're creating new opportunities for donors to support the causes that will shape Woodbury for generations.

Recognizing the tremendous value of volunteerism, we invested in new technology to make giving time easier, too. Our new volunteer platform simplifies registration, connects residents with local opportunities, and helps organizations track and celebrate the hours contributed to our community.

To our donors, sponsors, community partners, board members, and volunteers, thank you. Your generosity makes this work possible. As we continue to grow, our purpose remains unchanged: connecting people and organizations to causes that matter.

Together, we're building a stronger Foundation and a stronger Woodbury.

With gratitude,

Christie Denson

COMMUNITY IMPACT

Woodbury Community Foundation Programs

WOODBURY COMMUNITY ACADEMY

This nine-week program, offered in partnership with the City of Woodbury, introduces residents to how city government, schools, nonprofits, and businesses work together to shape our community. Participants gain behind-the-scenes access, complete a community project, and graduate with a deeper understanding of civic life and the history of Woodbury. The Academy develops leaders who are equipped to engage and strengthen Woodbury.

WOODBURY THRIVES

Woodbury Thrives promotes wellness and healthy living through partnerships and events like the Community Garden, bike initiatives, health screenings, and educational forums. By bringing neighbors together around health, food access, and active living, the program creates a more connected and resilient community. Woodbury Thrives connects our community to inspire health and well-being for everyone.

NON-PROFIT ROUNDTABLE

This quarterly gathering convenes 30–40 nonprofit leaders to share resources, training, and collaboration opportunities. The Roundtable strengthens the local nonprofit sector by providing shared learning, community data, and connections that increase collective impact. The Roundtable connects community organizations to amplify impact.

WOODBURY CHAMPIONS

Champions are WCF's hands-on volunteer network, open to anyone who wants to make a difference locally. They participate in service projects like school supply drives, winter clothing collections, and hygiene kit packing events—while also connecting through social gatherings. Champions connect neighbors through service and grow a culture of giving back.

FISCAL SPONSORSHIP PROGRAMS IN FISCAL YEAR 2025

WCF fiscal sponsorship program allows community groups or charities to carry out their missions under the Foundation's nonprofit umbrella, providing administrative support, financial oversight, and tax-deductible giving options. WCF's Fiscal Sponsors in 2025-2026 are:

- Angels of Hope Memorial Fund
- Bash for Brains Fund
- East Ridge High School Boys Volleyball Booster Club
- East Ridge High School Orchestras Booster Club
- Live Brave Fund
- One Woodbury Fund
- Power of 100 Women
- Rounds for Rebs Fund
- Woodbury Firefighter Alumni Association Fund
- Woodbury News Net Fund
- Yellow Ribbon Network

YOUTH ENGAGEMENT LEADERSHIP ACADEMY (YELA)

YELA is a free summer program for rising high school seniors to learn about community leadership and civic engagement. Students meet with city, nonprofit, and business leaders, develop new skills, and may earn scholarships through essay submissions. YELA develops future leaders with a strong commitment to service.

WOODBURY RACIAL EQUITY COLLABORATIVE

This initiative brings residents, schools, government, and nonprofits together to advance racial equity in Woodbury. Through speaker series events, facilitated conversations, and policy engagement, the Collaborative builds understanding and drives meaningful change. The Collaborative connects community to create a more inclusive and equitable city.

A NEW STANDARD OF TRANSPARENCY

Woodbury Community Foundation Meets Charities Review Council's Rigorous 25 Accountability Standards

Charities Review Council℠ MEETS STANDARDS smartgivers.org

In February 2026, the Woodbury Community Foundation reached an important milestone, earning the Charities Review Council's Meets Standards designation. This recognition demonstrates WCF's commitment to strong governance, financial stewardship, transparency, and accountability to the community it serves.

The Charities Review Council is a Minnesota nonprofit organization dedicated to strengthening trust between charitable organizations and the people who support them. Its rigorous accountability standards help donors identify organizations committed to responsible and ethical practices.

A Year-Long Commitment to Excellence

"Achieving this designation required a comprehensive review of WCF's policies, practices and operations" explains board member Mac Ryerse who led the year-long effort that included submitting more than 50 documents, completing a 95-question assessment, and evaluating its' governance practices.

Mac, who previously served as both an intern and board member for the Charities Review Council, contributed more than 100 volunteer hours to guide WCF through the process.

What This Means for Our Community

"For donors, volunteers, and community partners, the Meets Standards designation provides independent validation that WCF is committed to operating with integrity and accountability," he adds.

This reinforces a promise at the heart of the Foundation's mission: to responsibly steward the generosity of our community...

Mac Ryerse, WCF Board Member

"More importantly, it reinforces a promise at the heart of the Foundation's mission: to responsibly steward the generosity of our community and ensure that charitable resources make a meaningful, lasting difference in Woodbury."

A MILESTONE WORTH CELEBRATING

Meeting these standards is more than an achievement. It reflects our ongoing commitment to earning the trust of the people and organizations who make our work possible.

IMPACT STORY: GREEN FAMILY
DONOR-ADVISED FUND

GIVING WITH A PURPOSE, PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

Roger and Nancy Green have called Woodbury home since 1991. Through the Chamber of Commerce and later the Woodbury Community Foundation, Roger discovered how WCF helps neighbors build sustainable philanthropy.

For Roger and Nancy, a Donor-Advised Fund offers a flexible way to support the causes they care about while coordinating their charitable giving with their tax planning. Each year, they sit down together, discuss their priorities, and recommend grants from their fund. Their interests include helping future nurses and protecting the environment, with Belwin Conservancy and SoWashCo Cares among Roger's favorite causes.

They also explored charitable estate-planning options through Apex Consulting, a resource made available by WCF. After receiving guidance, they chose to include a Charitable Remainder Trust in their wills—an approach intended to support loved ones and create a future charitable legacy. Roger values access to experts who focus on charitable goals while complementing the work of attorneys and financial advisors.

> I wish more people would take advantage of Donor Advised Funds

There is more opportunity out there than people are aware of to enhance the charitable results of their estate planning.

INVESTING IN OUR ENVIRONMENTAL FUTURE

WCF Sponsors Woodbury Green Talk on Climate Change

NEW ENVIRONMENT FUND PREPARING FOR LAUNCH EARTH DAY 2027

Woodbury's commitment to environmental stewardship is growing, and the Woodbury Community Foundation is creating new opportunities for residents, businesses, and organizations to be part of that progress.

The City's Environmental Stewardship Plan outlines priorities for protecting natural resources, improving water quality, reducing waste, and strengthening sustainability. Meanwhile, Washington County is developing a Climate Action Plan focused on reducing emissions and building long-term community resilience.

Together, these efforts provide a roadmap for environmental progress and highlight opportunities for community involvement.

To help advance these shared goals, WCF established the Woodbury Environment Fund, a charitable Field of Interest Fund designed to support local, community-led environmental initiatives through future grantmaking.

With a formal launch planned for Earth Day, April 22, 2027, the Foundation is beginning conversations with prospective founding donors and community partners interested in helping shape and support the fund's early impact. From conservation and environmental education to neighborhood sustainability projects, the fund will help connect local generosity with meaningful action.

Interested in being an early supporter?
WCF welcomes conversations with individuals, families, and businesses who want to invest in a greener, more resilient Woodbury.

BUILDING A MORE CONNECTED WOODBURY THROUGH VOLUNTEERISM

Woodbury Champions Volunteers at the Back to School Drive

WOODBURY IS FULL OF PEOPLE WHO WANT TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE.

Sometimes, the biggest barrier is simply knowing where to start.

This year, the Woodbury Community Foundation took an important step toward making that connection easier with the launch of a new volunteer management system. The investment supports a larger goal: creating a central hub where residents can discover meaningful ways to contribute their time and talents throughout Woodbury.

“Volunteering is one of the most direct ways we connect people and organizations to causes that matter,” said Christie Denson, WCF Chair. “We want to make it easier to find an opportunity that fits their interests, skills and availability.”

More Than Filling Volunteer Shifts

Volunteerism benefits a community in two important ways. It provides the people and capacity needed to address local needs, while also strengthening the connection, well-being and sense of purpose of the people who serve.

Volunteering can create meaningful relationships, reduce social isolation, provide opportunities to develop new skills and give people a stronger sense of belonging within their community. For WCF, that means looking beyond any single volunteer project.

“We don’t just want to fill volunteer shifts,” Denson said. “We want people to feel more connected to Woodbury and to one another. Someone may give us two hours at a service project today and discover an organization or cause they want to stay involved with for years.”

Now, WCF has set an ambitious goal: grow its volunteer network by 500 people in one year. But the real measure of success will extend far beyond that number.
It will be hundreds more residents who know where to turn when they want to help. More people building relationships across the community. More local organizations connected with people willing to share their time and talents. Because connecting 500 new volunteers isn't just about getting more done. It's about building a more connected Woodbury.

THE RIPPLE EFFECT OF VOLUNTEER LEADERSHIP

Some volunteers come to WCF ready to lead. Others discover their potential to lead through us. These two volunteer stories show how personal experiences, meaningful connections, and a shared commitment to Woodbury can inspire leadership that strengthens our entire community.

Manali Shah

WCF Executive Board Members Are Community Leaders

For Manali Shah, volunteering has been a journey of rediscovery. Before moving to the United States, Manali enjoyed a career in journalism in India. After starting a family, she began volunteering at her children's schools, eventually expanding her involvement to a city advisory commission and other community initiatives, including serving on WCF Executive Committee and leading the YELA program. Volunteering offered Manali opportunities to use her professional skills in meaningful ways. One rewarding experience was helping highlight Woodbury's strengths for a proposed destination marketing campaign, combining her communications background with her enthusiasm for the community. Manali appreciates the variety of opportunities and welcoming spirit of Woodbury's volunteers.

Her advice? Don't hesitate! Whether you're new or experienced, there's a place for everyone to contribute.

Favorite place in Woodbury: Colby Lake Park, where she enjoys walking and taking in the beautiful view of the lakes and trees.

Favorite cookie: Chocolate chips cookies in the US, and Nice biscuits in India (a coconut flavored cookie).

Bill Sawyer

Community Academy Graduate Making an Impact

For Bill Sawyer, volunteering is about creating the vibrant, welcoming community that makes Woodbury special. He began coaching his children's sports teams before joining the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life in 2004, eventually chairing the committee. Attending Woodbury Community Academy in 2021 deepened Bill's appreciation for his community and inspired new opportunities. Today, he serves on the Woodbury Days Council and supports the Woodbury News Net through sponsorship and advertising efforts, helping sustain the events that bring residents together. Bill believes a strong community takes people willing to get involved. Volunteering allows him to build relationships, support local traditions, and contribute to something bigger than himself.

His advice? Get involved! Every volunteer helps make Woodbury a better place to call home.

Favorite place in Woodbury: Eagle Valley Golf Course, where he enjoys the Tuesday night league.

Favorite cookie: His homemade, thick chocolate chip cookies!
